

TO-DAY!

OUR GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL CLEARING SALE EMBRACES CLOTHING AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

First Day (Friday) FOR GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS!

A GRAND VARIETY AT LOW PRICES. A PARTIAL LIST IS HERE GIVEN OF THE MOST EXCELLENT VALUES. SEE SHOW WINDOWS.

TWENTY DIFFERENT KINDS OF GLOVES IN OUR SEMI-ANNUAL SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE, AT A NOMINAL PRICE.

- Men's $1.75 French Kid Gloves, slightly spotted.....50 cents
- Men's 65-cent Angora Goat Gloves.....35 cents
- Men's extra quality Angora Goat Gloves.....49 cents
- Men's Buckskin with strap (worth 85 cents).....50 cents
- Men's Buckskin with strap (worth $1.25).....75 cents
- Men's fine Angora Gauntlets (regular price, $1.25).....75 cents
- 50-cent fine summer-weight Balbriggan Shirts.....34 cents
- 75-cent fancy-striped Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers.....39 cents
- $1.25 fancy-striped (imported) Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers.....75 cents
- A lot of superior quality, white, summer Merino Shirts, cut from 85c to 39c
- 47 dozen plain and fancy, full-finished, Cotton Half Hose, from 25c to 15c
- Per Pair.
- 19 cents per pair for regular make Merino and light-weight Wool Socks (regular value, 37c) cents.

Great reductions in Gents' plain and fancy embroidery trimmed Night Shirts, 90-cent Shirts for 51 cents; $1 Shirts for 63 cents; $1.12 and $1.25 Shirts for 69 and 72 cents each.

Will close out our $1 and $1.25 White Laundry Dress Shirts for 61 and 72 cents. They are worth securing.

BEAR IN MIND: We offer in this sale fancy Calico Dress Shirts at 19, 25, 49, 50 and 75 cents, that are worth more than double the price, but we must reduce our large stock at any sacrifice.

Numerous Styles of Working and Half-Dress Overshirts; cut down far below the cost.

One lot of 40 odd dozen at 31 cents each; are made well, of Gingham and Cheviot material.

One lot of fancy imitation of French Flannel at 49 cents (marked down from 75 cents). Much better Goods, fancy and plaided boxes, 65, 75, 85 cents (Genuine Flannel, fancy-striped) Overshirts.....$1.75 each

Five French Silk Flannel Overshirts.....$2.75 each

A great variety of Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Scarfs, Four-in-Hands, Ties, Bowties, etc., at one-half their regular prices.

ALL ODDS AND ENDS IN SHIRTS, UNDERWEAR, ETC., WILL BE CLOSED OUT REGARDLESS OF PRICE.

RED HOUSE, J Street, SACRAMENTO, CAL.

RAILROAD TIME TABLE. SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY. PACIFIC SYSTEM. JULY 26, 1899.

LEAVE	TRAINS RUN DAILY	ARRIVE
7:00 A.	California and Napa.....	11:40 A.
7:10 A.	California and Napa.....	11:50 A.
7:20 A.	California and Napa.....	12:00 P.
7:30 A.	California and Napa.....	12:10 P.
7:40 A.	California and Napa.....	12:20 P.
7:50 A.	California and Napa.....	12:30 P.
8:00 A.	California and Napa.....	12:40 P.
8:10 A.	California and Napa.....	12:50 P.
8:20 A.	California and Napa.....	1:00 P.
8:30 A.	California and Napa.....	1:10 P.
8:40 A.	California and Napa.....	1:20 P.
8:50 A.	California and Napa.....	1:30 P.
9:00 A.	California and Napa.....	1:40 P.
9:10 A.	California and Napa.....	1:50 P.
9:20 A.	California and Napa.....	2:00 P.
9:30 A.	California and Napa.....	2:10 P.
9:40 A.	California and Napa.....	2:20 P.
9:50 A.	California and Napa.....	2:30 P.
10:00 A.	California and Napa.....	2:40 P.
10:10 A.	California and Napa.....	2:50 P.
10:20 A.	California and Napa.....	3:00 P.
10:30 A.	California and Napa.....	3:10 P.
10:40 A.	California and Napa.....	3:20 P.
10:50 A.	California and Napa.....	3:30 P.
11:00 A.	California and Napa.....	3:40 P.
11:10 A.	California and Napa.....	3:50 P.
11:20 A.	California and Napa.....	4:00 P.
11:30 A.	California and Napa.....	4:10 P.
11:40 A.	California and Napa.....	4:20 P.
11:50 A.	California and Napa.....	4:30 P.
12:00 P.	California and Napa.....	4:40 P.
12:10 P.	California and Napa.....	4:50 P.
12:20 P.	California and Napa.....	5:00 P.
12:30 P.	California and Napa.....	5:10 P.
12:40 P.	California and Napa.....	5:20 P.
12:50 P.	California and Napa.....	5:30 P.
1:00 P.	California and Napa.....	5:40 P.
1:10 P.	California and Napa.....	5:50 P.
1:20 P.	California and Napa.....	6:00 P.
1:30 P.	California and Napa.....	6:10 P.
1:40 P.	California and Napa.....	6:20 P.
1:50 P.	California and Napa.....	6:30 P.
2:00 P.	California and Napa.....	6:40 P.
2:10 P.	California and Napa.....	6:50 P.
2:20 P.	California and Napa.....	7:00 P.
2:30 P.	California and Napa.....	7:10 P.
2:40 P.	California and Napa.....	7:20 P.
2:50 P.	California and Napa.....	7:30 P.
3:00 P.	California and Napa.....	7:40 P.
3:10 P.	California and Napa.....	7:50 P.
3:20 P.	California and Napa.....	8:00 P.
3:30 P.	California and Napa.....	8:10 P.
3:40 P.	California and Napa.....	8:20 P.
3:50 P.	California and Napa.....	8:30 P.
4:00 P.	California and Napa.....	8:40 P.
4:10 P.	California and Napa.....	8:50 P.
4:20 P.	California and Napa.....	9:00 P.
4:30 P.	California and Napa.....	9:10 P.
4:40 P.	California and Napa.....	9:20 P.
4:50 P.	California and Napa.....	9:30 P.
5:00 P.	California and Napa.....	9:40 P.
5:10 P.	California and Napa.....	9:50 P.
5:20 P.	California and Napa.....	10:00 P.
5:30 P.	California and Napa.....	10:10 P.
5:40 P.	California and Napa.....	10:20 P.
5:50 P.	California and Napa.....	10:30 P.
6:00 P.	California and Napa.....	10:40 P.
6:10 P.	California and Napa.....	10:50 P.
6:20 P.	California and Napa.....	11:00 P.
6:30 P.	California and Napa.....	11:10 P.
6:40 P.	California and Napa.....	11:20 P.
6:50 P.	California and Napa.....	11:30 P.
7:00 P.	California and Napa.....	11:40 P.
7:10 P.	California and Napa.....	11:50 P.
7:20 P.	California and Napa.....	12:00 P.
7:30 P.	California and Napa.....	12:10 P.
7:40 P.	California and Napa.....	12:20 P.
7:50 P.	California and Napa.....	12:30 P.
8:00 P.	California and Napa.....	12:40 P.
8:10 P.	California and Napa.....	12:50 P.
8:20 P.	California and Napa.....	1:00 P.
8:30 P.	California and Napa.....	1:10 P.
8:40 P.	California and Napa.....	1:20 P.
8:50 P.	California and Napa.....	1:30 P.
9:00 P.	California and Napa.....	1:40 P.
9:10 P.	California and Napa.....	1:50 P.
9:20 P.	California and Napa.....	2:00 P.
9:30 P.	California and Napa.....	2:10 P.
9:40 P.	California and Napa.....	2:20 P.
9:50 P.	California and Napa.....	2:30 P.
10:00 P.	California and Napa.....	2:40 P.
10:10 P.	California and Napa.....	2:50 P.
10:20 P.	California and Napa.....	3:00 P.
10:30 P.	California and Napa.....	3:10 P.
10:40 P.	California and Napa.....	3:20 P.
10:50 P.	California and Napa.....	3:30 P.
11:00 P.	California and Napa.....	3:40 P.
11:10 P.	California and Napa.....	3:50 P.
11:20 P.	California and Napa.....	4:00 P.
11:30 P.	California and Napa.....	4:10 P.
11:40 P.	California and Napa.....	4:20 P.
11:50 P.	California and Napa.....	4:30 P.
12:00 P.	California and Napa.....	4:40 P.
12:10 P.	California and Napa.....	4:50 P.
12:20 P.	California and Napa.....	5:00 P.
12:30 P.	California and Napa.....	5:10 P.
12:40

*Monday excepted, Sunday only. Monday excepted for Good Friday.

A. N. TOWNS, General Manager.

T. H. GOODMAN, General Passenger and Ticket
Agent.

EASTERN AND MOUNTAIN APPLIES.
W. H. WOOD & CO.,
Nos. 117, 119 and 121 S Street,
The SACRAMENTO MARKET
(HARRIES THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF Fruit, Produce, Fish, Poultry, Game, etc., to be found in the city.)

CURTIS BROS. & CO.,
308, 310 and 312 K Street, Sacramento.
Telephone Office Box 335.

CURTIS BROS. & CO.,
General Commission Merchants and
Wholesale Dealers in
Fruit and Produce.
308, 310 and 312 K st., Sacramento.
Telephone 37. Postoffice Box 335. If

EUGENE J. GREGORY, FRANK GREGORY,
GREGORY BROS. CO.,
(Successors to GREGORY, BARNES & CO.)
Nos. 218 & 220 E Street,
WHOLESALE DEALERS IN PRODUCE AND
Fruit, Fish, Poultry, Game, etc., and
Green and Dried Fruits, Beans, Alfalfa, Butter,
Eggs, Cheese, Poultry, etc., always on hand.
* Orders filled at Lowest Rates.

S. GERSON & CO.,
Commission Merchants, Wholesale
Fruit and Produce,
220 J STREET.—SACRAMENTO.

EAST OF THE ROCKIES.

Sullivan Arrested in Nashville, but Afterwards Released.

THE HAGGIN RACE CONTROVERSY.

Eastern Turf Events—Chasing Kilrain in Ohio—Counterfeiters Arrested—Etc.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

GRAND ARMY CIRCULAR.

The National Encampment Almost Abandoned—A Railroad Boycott.

CHICAGO, July 11th.—The celebrated G. A. R. circular against the railroads was formulated to-day and will be promulgated to-morrow. It states that after a long-continued effort on the part of a large number of the Department Commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic, supplemented by earnest appeals to railroad officials, the G. A. R. has failed to secure to the old soldiers the customary rate of one cent per mile to the National Encampment.

The circular recites the fact that a half rate of one cent per mile or less has recently been granted to other organizations, and states that the refusal of railroads to give this rate to veterans of the late war is an unjust discrimination against the G. A. R.

Consequently the Department Commanders of various States requested all comrades "as a matter of self-respect and self-defense and love of their country" to observe the boycotted pleasure of meeting their comrades at the National Encampment by remaining at home. Only those attending who were duly elected delegates or ex-officio members of the Encampment. Let us in a dignified and resolute manner present this great injustice against the old soldiers by refusing to attend.

The circular concludes by recommending the organization of county committees of ex-rebels throughout the various departments in order that every old soldier may be given an opportunity to present his comrades around the camp-fire in gladsome reunion.

DARTON'S CONSTITUTION.

Memorial Sent to President Harrison Regarding Mineral Entries.

SIOUX FALLS (Dak.), July 11th.—In the Constitutional Convention to-day in the morning, the memorial to the President to suspend the mineral entries upon school lands near large cities until the State is organized and can defend its rights thereof.

In some cases, where there is a strong opposition to this on the ground that the ordinary operation of law is sufficient to protect the public interest, the President to suspend an entire class of entries was equivalent to petitioning him to do the same thing which resulted in such bitter denunciation of Cleveland's Land Commissioner, Sparks.

Despite these considerations, however, the memorial was adopted by a vote of 32 to 20. All the opposition to the reference of every part of the Constitution of 1850 to an appropriate committee was withdrawn notwithstanding the strong opposition of the day previous.

A petition was received from the Methodist Ministers' Association of southeastern Dakota, asking the Convention to provide safeguards for an honest election of the State officers and the temporary location of the State Capital be taken at different times than that of the Constitution.

NORTH DAKOTA.

An Attempt to Make it a Prohibition State—Live Cattle Anticipated.

BISMARCK (Dak.), July 11th.—The standing committee of the Constitutional Convention were announced to-day. There are twenty-three committees, of which the Democrats receive the chairmanships of four.

Mr. Johnson is made Chairman of the Corporations Committee, and it is worthy of notice that he is classed among the so-called anti-railroad people. His proposals perfect justice to all corporations.

The Chairman of the Committee on Temperance, Mr. Hughes, has proposed in favor of a constitutional prohibition, and a majority of the committee have the same view. It is probable that a question will be submitted to a vote of the people in the form of an amendment to the Constitution.

Governor Mellette addressed the committee urging the greatest extension of the purity of the ballot. Both parties are preparing for a lively campaign in North Dakota in their efforts to gain supremacy at the coming election.

MURDER MCDOW.

Insulting the Family of His Victim—Evidencing Intention.

NEW YORK, July 11th.—A grand special from Charleston S. C. says: Since the verdict in the case against Dr. McLow, for the murder of Captain Dawson, there has been but one topic in the minds of the people. Many of the best citizens feel outraged at the miscarriage of justice. There was another man, who was with McLow, and who turned his escape from the gallows into an excuse for tendering him an ovation.

Some people who had a loathing for the man who murdered the doctor, and to have McLow persecuted, go about as if he had not killed Captain Dawson, and the course would very probably have been pursued if McLow had acted as if he were a man possessed of ordinary good sense, for, however, to imagine that he is a privileged character.

A high brick wall divides the back lawn of the residence of the late Captain Dawson from McLow's yard. The piazza of the second story of McLow's house overlooks Captain Dawson's lawn. Mr. Dawson was walking on the grass of his lawn yesterday afternoon, when he heard whistling and other noises which attracted his attention. She looked up and saw McLow standing on his piazza, doing everything he could to attract her notice, went into the house and closed the door.

SPRING ON THE BACKYARD.

McLow had been sitting on the piazza of the first floor of his house, and the side of the killing, when the whistling and the pistol and was about to make short work of McLow when he fled, and in his hurry to get out of the house hit his head on the door-frame.

A QUESTIONABLE JURY.

McLow's lawyers, it is said, knew of this at the trial. The jury is being closely watched, and some little has been said out. The colored man, Sims, was in favor of a verdict of manslaughter, and he was the only one opposed to acquittal. One of the colored jurors said that Captain Dawson had insulted the colored men in his paper and he got what he deserved.

McDow, the white juror, will have abundance of cause to regret his verdict. He is the Republican candidate for collector of the Port. A prominent Republican can just back from Washington says that the verdict settles McDow's aspirations.

HOW KERN WAS KIDNED.

Further Discussion About the Episode at Monmouth Park.

NEW YORK, July 11th.—Sporting men in this city have much to say about the race for the Louisville stakes at Monmouth Park, which was run on Tuesday. They discussed the allegations of foul riding by Brant on Kern and the fact that the race was run by John J. Haggin had run Kern merely to interfere with Salvo's opponents. Some were of the opinion that the race should have been taken from Salvator and given to Longstreet, owned by the Dwyer Brothers. That Kern won by at least four of the contending horses is conceded by everyone, and the general belief is that when the judges' jockey Brant rode off the course for foul riding, Salvo should also have been disqualified, as, according to racing rules, no horse running from the same stable are both subject to the same disqualification.

Mr. McDow, in relating the incidents of the race this evening, said:

"We were all watching the race. One of the horses passed the post and had gone off the course for foul riding. Salvo and the three first horses had been placed, we saw Billy Hayward, the rider of Eric, go up into the judges' stand and say something to Galway. He was followed by Fitzpatrick, who rode the Favardale colt, and Garrison, who was up on Longstreet. We did not know what was wrong. D. D. Withers came up, and calling to Phil Dwyer, said: 'A complaint has been made against the Haggin stable of foul riding. If you enter a complaint you will probably be awarded the stakes.'"

Dwyer answered: "No, I won't make a complaint. I don't want the stakes. I've beaten fairly, and if the stakes are given to Longstreet, I will turn them over to any charitable institution you may name."

"Dwyer was urged to enter a complaint, but he persistently refused."

"After Garrison had made an explanation to Dwyer, the latter became somewhat angry and told Haggin that he thought his horse could beat his and offered to bet him $10,000 against the Haggin stable. Haggin refused to carry three-year-old weights."

"To this Mr. Haggin replied that he did not care to match his horse with the Haggin stable."

WHAT MR. HAGGIN SAYS.

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because I believed he would secure a place. As for the alleged foul, I know nothing about it. I am a horse man, not a judge. I believe the boy Brant intended it. He is a good, honest little fellow, and an orphan whom I took care of. When I asked him about it, he was crying and could not tell me how it happened."

"I saw no indication of trouble on the track," said Mr. Haggin to-day, "though I was watching the race. I saw Salvo pull out, as I expected he would. I saw Brant in because